Welcome to Masala

Masala means Spices

Indian spices and herbs are one of the most important forms of natural foods. Besides their culinary uses in these days, these spices were a vital part of the indigenous Indian system of medicine. Their healing benefits were unlimited and it was used frequently to cure depression, inflammation, migraines, respiratory and any placebo treatments they could think of.

That's how these spices became a part of India's daily diet and timeless tradition of Indian cooking. Each Masala adds its own unique aroma, taste, flavour, colour and pungency to the food.

India is a vast, diverse, migratory and multicultural country. Indian food varies from north to south and east to west. Our chef has selected the most popular dishes from this diversity. We can tailor the dishes to suit your taste buds.

We thank you for your support. Please give us a like on our Facebook page!
